The Chairman said, the whole question of the Tea Duty was not raised by that Amendment. The only question was, whether any differentiation should be made between tea from Her Majesty's dominions and tea from foreign countries, and he must ask the right hon. Gentleman to confine himself to that Question July 7, 938

The Chairman said, the hon. Member was entitled to move to reduce the Income Tax from 8d. to 7½d., or to strike the whole of Clause 19 out, but he did not think he was entitled to go into the question of Schedule "B." That was specially dealt with in the next clause, and if he dealt with it in the present clause it was obvious that the same matter might be dealt with twice over, which would be quite contrary to the rule governing proceedings in Committee July 8, 1031

The Chairman said, if the Amendments were out of order on Clause 20, which dealt with Schedule "B," it was obvious they would be equally out of order on Clause 19, which did not. The hon. Member was entitled to move to reduce the 8d. to any other sum, but he could not raise the question of how this particular deficit was to be met, which would be caused supposing his Amendment were to be carried July 8, 1031

The Chairman said, he gathered from the hon. Member's remarks that he took exception to the whole clause, and not Sub-section (1) only. Of course if the hon. Member were successful in striking out Sub-section (1), Sub-section (2) could not stand alone. If that were so, obviously the remarks of the hon. Member ought to be made when he (the Chairman) put the Question that Clause 25 stand part of the Bill. That would be the proper place to raise his objection to the whole clause July 9, 1130

The Chairman said, the objection which the hon. Member took was vital to the whole Clause. If the hon. Member were successful in carrying his Amendment, the natural effect would be to strike out Sub-section (2) as well as Sub-section (1). His objection, in other words, was to the root of the whole clause, and therefore the proper time to take it was when the clause was put as a whole. Then the hon. Member would be entitled to urge his objection July 9, 1130

Land Law (Ireland) Bill

The Chairman said, he thought not. The Amendment standing in the name of the hon. Member for Galway was really drafted in an improper form, because it proposed to leave out a sub-section of the Bill in order to insert another sub-section almost identical with that proposed to be left out July 16, 1651

The Chairman said, the hon. Member for Cork City was entitled to move the omission of the whole Sub-section (c), and upon that Amendment he was entitled to support it on the ground that it ought to be omitted from the Bill, or on the ground that he had an alternative scheme to suggest. If the omission were carried, then an alternative scheme could be submitted. The words he should have to put if the hon. Member for Cork moved his Amendment, were the first words of the sub-section, in order to permit subsequent Amendments to be raised, supposing the Amendment of the hon. Member for Cork were not carried July 16, 1651

The Chairman said, the Motion of the hon. Member for Galway, although in form proposing to omit Sub-section (c), yet was really a substitute for it, and proposed to re-enact ipsissimis verbis three-and-a-half lines of Sub-section (c). Therefore, in his opinion, the Amendment of the hon. Member for Galway was not properly drafted. He (the Chairman) had re-drafted it in such a way that the hon. Member could move his Amendment after he put from the Chair the Question that the first words of the sub-section stand part of the Bill July 16, 1651

The Chairman said, he thought the form of the Amendment of the hon. Member for Galway City was irregular, and that it was not properly drafted. If the hon. Member for Cork City proposed simply to omit Sub-section (c) he was in order, and he said that was what he intended to move. He called upon him July 16, 1652

The Chairman said, if the Amendment were adopted, he should take it to mean that the Committee had decided not to deal with town parks in that Bill, and therefore all the other Amendments on the Paper would fall to the ground July 16, 1656

The Chairman said, it was perfectly obvious that on the Schedule it would not be possible to discuss fresh provisions in regard to town parks. The only question would be whether that particular sub-section applying to town parks should be repealed or allowed to remain. It would not be possible to propose fresh conditions, such as extent, value, and matters of that sort as regarded town parks July 16, 1656

The Chairman said, he thought it was clear that the best place to decide the questions as to the size of the holdings, the population of the towns, and so forth, was upon the sub-section the Committee were then discussing. He was not prepared to say that the matter could not be raised by a new clause July 16, 1662

The Chairman said, he thought he ought to remind the hon. and gallant Member that as he had put the Question—namely, That Clause 4 stand part of the Bill—it would not be in the province of the Committee to consider Amendments to the clause. If a new clause came up, of course an opportunity would be afforded to move Amendments July 16, 1694

The Chairman said, hon. Members would recollect that the Leader of the House suggested that Clause 4 should be negatived in its present shape in order that it might be re-introduced in an amended form, and he gathered from the general sense of the House that that proposal commended itself to the acceptance of the House. Hon. Members would recollect that he paused a little before he put the Question. He saw that if he did put that Question Amendments could not be moved unless the Motion were withdrawn. If the Motion were withdrawn, the Clause would be open to amendment July 16, 1694

The Chairman said, that he had perhaps acted irregularly in putting the Question that the clause stand part of the Bill. The reason why he did it was because he gathered from the manner in which the statement of the First Lord of the Treasury was received, generally in silence and in some parts of the House with approval, that the Committee generally approved of the course proposed. Therefore, he took what was an irregular course. The only way of reinstating the situation was that the First Lord of the Treasury should withdraw his Motion, and that he (the Chairman) should commit the further irregularity of withdrawing the Question he had put July 16, 1696

Navy Estimates: £236,800 for Admiralty Office Expenses

The Chairman said, that question did not arise on the salary of the Secretary to the Admiralty June 26, 194

The Chairman said, so far as he could gather, the hon. Member moved a reduction in the salary of the Secretary to the Admiralty on the ground that gunboats had not been sent to protect the fishermen in the north of Scotland from the trawlers June 26, 194

The Chairman said, the hon Member had not shown any ground for moving the reduction. It had been ruled already that the salary could not be reduced on account of the particular matter of complaint which the hon. Gentleman then alleged June 26, 194

The Chairman said, it was out of order to take exception on general grounds to the salary of a Minister. The hon. Member must allege some failure to carry out an official act, or some act wrongly performed. It was not open to the hon. Member in Committee of Supply to attack a Minister's character generally June 26, 195

The Chairman said, he must request the hon. Member not to challenge his decision June 26, 195

The Chairman ruled that the hon. Gentleman was referring to matters that did not arise on the Vote June 26, 195

The Chairman said, that the hon. Gentleman was trifling with the Committee, and his remarks were irrelevant June 26, 196

THE RIGHT HON.
WILLIAM COURT GULLY, Q.C., Carlisle

Private Business
It can be put down for to-morrow and the hon. Member can make any arrangement in the meantime for its being taken on a more suitable day if that could be done June 25, 53

Questions
The practice of making inquiries at the end of Questions on matters arising out of Answers previously given is irregular. If Questions are not put at the time they should be put on the Paper June 29, 271
The entry appears to be in order. I am entitled to refuse a Motion if I think it is an abuse of the Rules of the House. That refusal does not reflect any personal discredit on the hon. Member who moves. But it was my opinion at the time that, after an Order of this House suspending the Twelve o'clock Rule, that suspension became one of the Rules of the House for the night, and that it would be an abuse of that Rule to move the Adjournment of the House at so early an hour June 30, 400
The Question begins properly enough by asking whether "the Foreign Office was aware," etc., the hon. Member thus taking the responsibility of the truth of what he has stated, but the words "it is alleged" are certainly irregular, and ought not to stand in the Question July 16, 1630

Rules and Order of Debate
If the Amendment is carried in the affirmative—that is, if the words "not being situate in" were carried and inserted in the Bill—then it would be open to hon. Members who have Amendments in respect of boroughs, metropolitan and urban districts, to endeavour to insert those Amendments or any of them. If the words are negatived it disposes of the matter June 24, 11
It has been already expressly stated that after the words "not being situate" have been carried, words defining an area of any kind might be inserted, but if those words were not carried it would not be possible to move to insert words defining an area. Therefore the object of the hon. Member for Carnavon is excluded, and the Amendment is not in order June 24, 34

The question of the Scotch and Irish portions can be dealt with when they come before the House on the Bills which have reference to those countries, but it does not arise on the present Bill, which is confined to England June 24, 38

I think the Amendment about to be proposed is one that the House should have an opportunity of considering; but after that Amendment has been put, having considered the Amendments that follow, I shall be prepared to put the Question: That the clause stand part of the Bill June 24, 39

If the Motion of the right hon. Gentleman be accepted, it is one that, by the Standing Orders, must be put without Amendment, and it is irregular to debate it June 24, 43

I have considered the Amendments that stand against the rest of this clause; and those of the hon. Member for Northamptonshire, the hon. Member for the Ilkeston Division, and the hon. Member for North Monmouthshire are out of order for reasons which I need not go into. The other Amendments appear to me to be all Amendments which would necessarily be supported by the same arguments which the House has listened to on previous Amendments, and which the House has refused to accept by a large majority. It is under those circumstances that it appears to me to be a case in which the rule was intended to apply, and I therefore accept the Motion June 24, 47

I have not got the Standing Orders before me, not do I think it necessary to refer to them. This is a Closure Motion, and it is perfectly clear that a Closure Motion may be put at the moment of the interruption of public business, whether the interruption of business takes place at the half-hour or at the close of the Division that goes over the half-hour. The Question is: That the Question that Clause 1 stand part of the Bill be now put June 24, 48

The hon. Member is not in order in going into the general question of subventions or even into this particular subvention. The House has already decided in favour of the subvention by voting that there shall be paid money to the local taxation account, and this is only machinery for carrying out what the House has already voted June 25, 95

I do not think the hon. Member is in order on this Amendment in going into the general financial question. The only Question before the House on this Amendment is, whether it is necessary, having regard to the provisions of the Act of 1866, to insert these words. That is a mere drafting question June 25, 98

In putting the Motion I shall follow the usual course, so as not to exclude subsequent Amendments. I may add that the next Amendment, standing in the name of the hon. Member for Carnarvon Boroughs, does not make sense as it stands upon the Paper. Perhaps some mistake has been made in printing it. If no mistake has been committed I cannot put the Amendment June 25, 110

I rule the Amendment out of order on the ground that it proposes to raise the rateable value, and therefore increase the charge. The Amendment is also contrary to what the House has already agreed to in dealing with the first clause June 25, 117

This Amendment is not in Order having regard to Section 2, which has been passed. Under Section 2, the money, which cannot be paid until these proceedings have been taken under Section 4, is to be paid in by the 31st of March, so that already, under the Bill, having regard to what has already been enacted under Section 2, "as soon as may be" means as soon as may be before the 31st of March, because the Bill already provides that something must be done, which cannot be done under Clause 4, by the 31st of March June 25, 118

The hon. Member has cited Clause 5 instead of Clause 40. The rule is, that an Instruction cannot be amended unless it is shown there is no substantial difference between the original and the amended form. There is in this case a substantial difference between what is done by Clause 5 and Clause 40 June 26, 138

I suggest that, as the statement referred to is not one to be made up annually, but once for all, the proper course will be to move for it in a return, which, no doubt, will be granted June 29, 295

I understand the Question to be, that, in addition to the certificate for payment into the Local Taxation Account, there shall be power to give a further provisional certificate for payment out of the Local Taxation Account. That will be only one pair of certificates June 29, 315

This and the next Amendment are consequential on the previous one, and all of them hang together. On those lines the Debate on the previous Amendment has proceeded, and many hon. Members, in speaking on the previous Amendment, have discussed the question of the impropriety of paying out of the Local Taxation Fund. I must say that, in these circumstances, a discussion on this Amendment is very much to be deprecated June 29, 319

It does not interfere with the general law of rating. This is an Amendment moved with respect to a particular change in the law of rating which is rendered necessary by this Bill. The Bill for the first time renders it compulsory to rate separately lands and buildings in cases where it was not necessary before, and an Amendment to provide for that compulsory separation is in order June 29, 327

The hon. Member is repeating arguments which have been used over and over again. The fact that the principle of rating raised in this Amendment is that which generally prevails in law was admitted by the learned Solicitor General at a very early stage of the Debate June 29, 331

I cannot accept that Motion at this hour. The next Amendment, which stands in the name of the hon. Member for Carnarvon, has already been disposed of by a previous Division, and also those standing in the names of the hon. Members for Anglesey and Devonshire. The Amendment of the hon. Member for Carnarvon, relating to appeal, will come on, on Section 6, which relates to appeal. The Amendment in the name of the hon. Member for Bethnal Green appears to me to be out of order, as it raises the question of three years, which has been already decided by the House June 29, 331

The Amendments which stand between the present point and the end of the clause do not appear to me to raise any question of importance either as regards drafting or substance, and I think there is not the slightest probability that any of them would be accepted by the House. Under these circumstances I accept the Motion of the right hon. Gentleman June 29, 336

It is true that the right hon. Gentleman the Member for West Monmouthshire has expressed an opinion that certain previous Amendments were of a substantial nature, and that the Chancellor of the Exchequer replied and took a somewhat different view of those Amendments; but neither of those observations was really pertinent to the Question before the House. I must ask the hon. Member not to pursue the subject further June 29, 342

If the hon. Member used such a word after the Question was put from the Chair, his action was extremely disrespectful to the Chair, and I must call upon him to withdraw it June 29, 346

I do not know whether the hon. Member is proposing to move the Adjournment of the Debate. If so, I may tell him that I shall not accept that Motion. By a large majority the House has practically decided, on the last Division, to go on with the consideration of Clause 9 June 29, 349

The hon. Member is at liberty to point out that the definition was introduced into the Irish Bill, but he cannot discuss the policy of the Irish Bill June 29, 363

If that is so the Amendment would be out of order, but I do not understand that it is so. If the Amendment increased the area, and consequently the amount of money that would have to be spent, it would be out of order; but, as I understand, it does not increase the area. It only means that the money should be handed over to some parish authorities instead of other authorities June 29, 369

After hearing the argument, that is my view. The first clause provides what the occupier of agricultural land has to pay. He has to pay half. Then the deficiency is to be made up, which is done by the second section; and towards making up that deficiency the only grant appears to be a grant to certain specified authorities. Among those the parish council or parish meeting are not included, and therefore to include them would be to increase the charge. For that reason the Amendment was out of order June 29, 371

It seems to me somewhat doubtful whether the Instruction is in order or not, and if it had been objected to I should have liked some further time to consider it. As it, however, appears to be accepted by general consent, I do not think it right to raise any objection July 13, 1305

The hon. Member was good enough to furnish me this morning with the points he intended to raise. I think the Bill is quite in order; because, in the first place as regards the point that this is a grant of money, the 58th Standing Order relates only to a grant of money to the Crown. It does not, in the first part of it, contain the words "to the Crown;" but I am quite clear that the meaning of it is, that no grant of money shall be made to the Crown, except in Committee of the Whole House That, I believe, is the meaning which has always been attributed to the words ever since the Order was passed. As regards the other point—that the remission of the Land Tax is a release or compounding of a debt due to the Crown the hon. Member seems to have confused two things, the repeal by statute of a statutory liability to pay a tax for the future and the remission of a present debt. This is not the case of a present debt to the Crown which it is proposed to release. If anyone owed Land Tax for last year or the year before, and it was proposed to relieve him from the payment of such arrears of taxation, that would be the release of a debt due to the Crown and would come within the provisions of the Standing Order; but the present proposal, being merely one to repeal an existing tax, is altogether outside the Standing Order and, therefore, need not originate in a Committee of the Whole House July 13, 1324

The manuscript Amendment which the hon. Member has handed up, proposing to insert words in the clause, cannot be put, inasmuch as the Question, That the clause stand part of the Bill, has already been put from the Chair July 15, 1567

[Mr. SPEAKER withheld his assent, and declined then to put the Question, but reminded the hon. Member for Northampton that the question before the House was the present state of public business July 15, 1546]
